If there's one thing we know for certain, it's that there is no shortage of lash-enhancing products setting up shop in the beauty industry. Between serums, primers, mascaras, falsies, and almost every other kind of elixir you can think of, people are obsessed with getting the long and fluttery lashes of their dreams. As with most things in the beauty realm, certain formulas are much better (not to mention safer) than others. If you've been wondering how to grow your eyelashes to their full potential, you're most certainly living in the right era, but some guidance as to the newest, best-selling, or top-rated serums can be helpful. (Not to scare you, but Amazon currently has 14 pages of offerings—eek!)

Also worth noting? There is only one FDA-approved formula (ahem, prescription-grade Latisse) consented to encourage lash growth. As for all the other tubes, combs, and potions, they're loaded with lots of amazing ingredients that can arm your lashes against breakage and damage. In other words, they can help make a sparse or dehydrated lash line healthier overall. If you've been wondering how to grow your eyelashes using the latest, greatest, best-selling formulas, you've come to the right place. Ahead, we're highlighting the top three eyelash serums from Amazon, Sephora, and Dermstore, including blurbs from their A+ reviews. Keep scrolling!

Best Serums to Shop on Dermstore

RapidLash Eyelash and Eyebrow Enhancing Serum \(\$50\)

Number of customer reviews: 557

Average rating: 5/5

Brimming with lash-healthy ingredients like copper peptides, biotin, hyaluronic acid, peptides, and panthenol, RapidLash is specifically formulated to improve the length, thickness, and volume of lashes while simultaneously guarding against unwanted damage and breakage. Plus, it's extra hydrating to enhance shine and softness.

"This product works and seems to be more than half the price of similar products!" explains one Dermstore customer. "I use it every night on my eyelashes and now get frequent compliments on the length of my lashes. I've been using the product for several months now, and it took about three to four weeks to notice any difference. One tube lasts me about five to six weeks."
